Computer and Information Sciences - ISCIS 2004 2004-10-29 the volume examines the discourse based critique of coloniality it brings together an extensive interdisciplinary dialogue that reveals what different research fields such as sociology of language social psychology history and political science among others have to say about discourse criticism and de coloniality in doing so it also invites a critique of critical thinking acknowledging the relevance of dissonant voices that arise from this debate the essays in this volume discuss possibilities to decolonize discursive studies without losing sight of its contradictions the book delves into how one can as an intellectual who enjoys the privileges of coloniality in academic environments of the global north deal with the limitations and paradox of a radical critique through discourse it discusses how ideas entrenched in privilege can be extracted shared and applied while ensuring the radicality of their local contextualization these ideas then must not only make sense within themselves but also resonate with other contexts readings and peoples in the south without repeating the mistakes of hermetic scholarly lexicons a key reading on decoloniality critical thinking methodologies ideas ideologies language and critical discourse analysis this volume will be of immense interest to scholar and researchers of language and literature political science the social sciences and global south studies

Lincoln Continental 1961 this book aims to provide researchers who are new or relatively new to qualitative research with the methodological tools and conceptual maps they need to navigate their way through the process it describes the uncertainties surrounding qualitative research and the many dilemmas faced by researchers it illustrates these by drawing on the experiences of researchers with varying degrees of expertise in qualitative research it also provides readers with the necessary background knowledge and raises their awareness of the questions they will need to address to help them make informed decisions about how to deal with these uncertainties and dilemmas the contents of the book are organized in a way that reflects the three main objectives that the authors had in mind the first objective was to provide readers with the necessary background knowledge and an awareness of the questions they will need to address in order to make informed decisions about whether to conduct qualitative research and if they decide to follow a qualitative path which particular qualitative approaches would be suited to their research goals the second objective was to equip readers with the basic tools to carry out their analysis by providing detailed contextualized coverage of the practicalities of the qualitative methods approaches in addition the book includes accounts of an actual analysis of a specific data set in a step by step manner using the approaches the third objective was to provide the reader with guidance as to how to write up qualitative research in general and the ethical considerations of qualitative inquiry in the concluding chapter

Lincoln Continental 1962-1963 Supplement to 1961 Lincoln Continental Maintenance Manual 1962 biological and biomedical research are increasingly driven by experimental techniques that challenge our ability to analyse process and extract meaningful knowledge from the underlying data the impressive capabilities of next generation sequencing technologies together with novel and constantly evolving distinct types of omics data technologies have created an increasingly complex set of challenges for the growing fields of bioinformatics and computational biology the analysis of the datasets produced and their integration call for new algorithms and approaches from fields such as databases statistics data mining machine learning optimization computer science and artificial intelligence clearly biology is more and more a science of information and requires tools from the computational sciences in the last few years we have seen the rise of a new generation of interdisciplinary scientists with a strong background in the biological and computational sciences in this context the interaction of researchers from different scientific fields is more than ever of foremost importance in boosting the research efforts in the field and contributing to the education of a new generation of bioinformatics scientists the pacbb 17 conference was intended to contribute to this effort and promote this fruitful interaction with a technical program that included 39 papers spanning many different sub fields in bioinformatics and computational biology further the conference promoted the interaction of scientists from diverse research groups and with a distinct background computer scientists mathematicians biologists
